TEA SELECTION

Prince of Wales

A blended of China black tea often served in the late morning or afternoon, typically with scones. Light in colour, smooth and mild in taste with a well-rounded character. Drunk with or without milk and can be sweetened to taste.

Earl Grey

Fine black tea with citrus notes imparted by aromatic rind of bergamot. An uplifting drink with distinctive floral aroma and refreshing flavour.

English Breakfast

Traditionally associated with a hearty English breakfast, this robust, full-bodied black tea goes well with milk and sugar.

Darjeeling

A light-gold variety from the Himalayan foothills with a delicate character often likened to muscatel. Regarded by connoisseurs as one of the finest black teas. Best drunk without milk or with only a touch.

Ceylon Orange Peko

Made from superior leaves grown in the Dimbula region of Sri Lanka. Ideal any time of day. Suitable for iced tea as well. Best enjoyed black with a small amount of milk and sweetened to taste.

Jasmine Green Tea

A Chinese green tea so named as its leaves are rolled into small balls that resemble green tea. Refreshing, light fragrance. Also a natural source of antioxidants.
